

Over the past 2 years, Sergeant Major Stokely has traveled all over the world leading congressional and staff delegations doing just that.

Now, he will continue his distinguished Army career, returning to lead men and women. I am thankful for his service and sacrifice. On behalf of Congress, I wish him, his wonderful wife Kristina, and three beautiful children Cody, Cailynn, and Kinslee all the best.

TRIBUTE TO THE COUNTRY MUSIC HALL OF FAME CLASS OF 2022

• Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam President, on October 16, Music City welcomed the Country Music Hall of Fame's Class of 2022, Joe Galante, Jerry Lee Lewis, and Keith Whitley, into country music's closest circle of friends. As a lifelong fan, I like to spend time each year reflecting not only on the ties that bind the genre, but on those that set each generation of artists, songwriters, musicians, and executives apart. This year, the Hall's newest members have one very simple thing in common: Country music came naturally to them.

If all had gone according to plan for Joe Galante, he never would have spent his life making country music. This year's Non-Performer inductee came to Nashville on a 2-year assignment as a junior financial analyst, then spent more than four decades modernizing the country music recording industry's business practices as one of the most influential executives in entertainment. The industry at the time may not have known what to make of this young man from New York City, but the industry of today is far more successful and creative for having embraced his vision of what country music could be.

On October 28, 2022, we lost Jerry Lee Lewis, this year's Veterans Era Artist inductee. But if there was ever an entertainer whose spirit will endure in the music of future generations of country stars, it is Jerry Lee. He made his mark in rock & roll, gospel, and the blues, but country is where he felt most at home. He was one of the greatest showmen in music and he knew it—and as the Hall's CEO Kyle Young put it, who are we to argue?

Keith Whitley, this year's Modern Era Artist inductee, died before he reached most of country's unique career milestones. But during his short time in the spotlight, he stood at the forefront of the New Traditionalist revival and convinced Music City that while sonic evolution was inevitable, country's roots would always be waiting for artists brave enough to embrace them. Keith struggled to control the darkest parts of himself and eventually succumbed, leaving behind a singular body of work that reveals a passion and dedication to the craft we have rarely seen since.

On behalf of all Tennesseans, it is my honor to celebrate these men for their contributions to the gift that is country music.●

TRIBUTE TO THE HUNEYCUTT FAMILY

• Mr. BOOZMAN. Madam President, I rise today to congratulate the Huneycutt family for earning the distinction of Arkansas Farm Family of the year.

This honor reflects the dedication of brothers Ted and Steve Huneycutt to farming and the important role they play in Arkansas' No. 1 industry. Ted and his wife Cindy have four children: Sara, Trey, Luke, and Greyson. Steve and his wife Leanne also have four children: Josh, Jessica, Ashley, and Logan. The family has been farming in Clark County since 1882.

On their 4,000-acre farm, the Huneycuts raise cattle and grow cotton, wheat, corn, soybeans, and hay. They also operate the Barn at Richwoods and Benchmark Ag, a risk management service providing producers with cash sale recommendations along with commodity futures, options and crop insurance. The Huneycuts are in the process of launching Ouachita Valley Meat Company, which will provide producers the products and processing capabilities to sell their own products.

The family is committed not only to farming and producing safe supplies of food and fiber to the world, but also to serving their community by lending their time and skills to numerous boards and committees.

The Arkansas Farm Bureau's program honors farm families across the State for their outstanding work on their farms and their positive impact and work on behalf of their neighbors. This recognition is a reflection of their contributions to agriculture at the local and State level and its implications for improved farm practices and management. The Huneycuts are well-deserving of this honor, and I wish them luck as they compete in the Sunbelt Expo Southeastern Farmer of the Year program next year.

I congratulate Ted, Steve, Cindy, Leanne, and their children on their exceptional achievements in agriculture and ask my colleagues to join me in honoring them for this accomplishment. I wish them continued success in their future endeavors and look forward to the contributions they will continue to offer Arkansas farming and agriculture.●

TRIBUTE TO TIMMYE CROWLEY

• Mr. DAINES. Madam President, today I have the distinct honor of recognizing Timmye Crowley of the U.S. Postal Service in Yellowstone County for her dedication to serving her fellow Montanans and a unique act of kindness that saved a man's life.

Timmye has worked for the U.S. Postal Service for more than 20 years, delivering countless letters and packages to the people of Montana. Recently, on her day off, she decided to extend a helping hand during this busy season by making additional deliveries along her normal route. As she approached a house which she knew belonged to an elderly resident, she decided to walk up to the front door to personally deliver this man's mail, in an effort to avoid the man potentially falling on the icy sidewalks, which are a common sight during Montana winters.

Upon reaching the front door, Timmye realized smoke was billowing out of the house and suspected there was a fire inside. She saw through the window that the man was asleep in a chair and promptly began pounding on the door to wake him up to ensure he would not get hurt. The man was hard of hearing, so he was unaware of the smoke detector alarms. He soon woke up and walked to the front door as Timmye called 9-1-1. First responders arrived on the scene shortly, and the man was no longer in danger.

Thanks to Timmye's efforts, a potentially fatal outcome was avoided. It is my distinct honor to recognize Timmye Crowley for her passion and willingness to go the extra mile serving the Billings community. Keep up the great work, Timmye. You make Montana proud.●

RECOGNIZING JUST FOR YOU BOUTIQUE

• Mr. PAUL. Madam President, as ranking member of the Senate Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship, each week I recognize an outstanding Kentucky small business that exemplifies the American entrepreneurial spirit. This week, it is my privilege to recognize Just For You Boutique of Frankfort, KY, as the Senate Small Business of the Week.

Across the country you will not find two small businesses with the same origin story. In most cases, the tale behind how one gets started is just as unique as the business itself. Such is the story of Nicole Boyd's business, Just For You Boutique. Nicole, a native of the Bluegrass State, was driving through its capital when she found herself stopped at a red light. As she gazed out the window towards an empty storefront, she couldn't help but notice a big "Available for Sale or Rent" sign in the window. It was in that moment that Nicole decided that she would open her own clothing store, right there in that location. Sometimes, all it takes is a self-starting individual to make their dream a reality, as is the case with Nicole. Not long after that fateful stop in Frankfort traffic, Just For You Boutique opened up on March 8, 2016.

As an active member of the community, Nicole's favorite aspect of owning her own business is that it enables her to really engage with the people of Frankfort, as she is constantly seeing friends and neighbors walk through her doors. Moreover, Nicole understands that successful businesses put their community first. She often collaborates with other small businesses around Frankfort to offer products and experiences that are unique to Kentucky and to Frankfort specifically. Nicole offers a wide variety of goods in her store, from fashion-forward apparel and jewelry to everyday home goods that could liven up any living space. Nicole pays special mind to feature homegrown Kentucky products, between coffee grinds made by local brewers and handcrafted artisanal soaps from local companies, Nicole makes Kentucky vendors her merchandise mainstay. Given the wide variety of goods she keeps in store, it would only make sense that Nicole would choose to name her boutique Just For You as it is a place where anyone, whether shopping for a gift or for themselves, can find something that is uniquely for them.

Part of what makes Just For You Boutique so special is that Nicole understands that strength often comes in numbers. She jumps at every opportunity to amplify her store by collaborating with other small businesses around the State capital, thereby growing the customer base for businesses across Main Street. Just this past Halloween, Nicole participated in a "Trunk-or-Treat" trunk show where small businesses all around Frankfort came together in a local park to brave the autumn rain and sell their goods. The Halloween trunk show was just one of many community events that Just For You participates in, as they also enjoy vending their goods at other Frankfort festivals and events. Nicole has even offered a unique promotion where customers can show their receipts from other local businesses to receive 10 percent off their purchase from Just For You Boutique. As an entrepreneur, it is clear the Nicole looks beyond the success of her own storefront and works to support those operating around her.

Not only does Nicole do her best to support other small businesses around Frankfort, she runs her store with a charitable heart. When a young lady around Frankfort was diagnosed with breast cancer, Nicole jumped into action. Suzanna, who had spent a lot of time inside Just For You Boutique, designed shirts emblazoned with a pink cancer ribbon with the hashtag #SuzannaStrong. In a show of support for Suzanna, Nicole printed shirt with her design and began selling them in her store, with all proceeds from the sales going towards the cost of Suzanna's medical treatment. It is acts of kindness such as these that sets Just For You Boutique apart from other businesses, as Nicole keeps her finger on the pulse of developments around the community and always keeps an ear out for those in need. I want to commend Nicole on making her dream of owning her own a store a reality and thank her for all that she does to support small businesses. Congratulations to Nicole Boyd along with the entire team at Just For You Boutique. I look forward to seeing your continued growth and success in Kentucky.●
